Waste Management

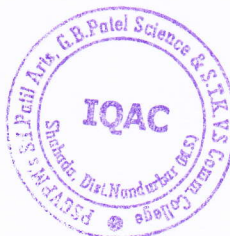

The Solid Waste of the campus like dried leaves are collected and allowed to perish in the garden serving as natural compost. The paper waste and other waste is collected in Dust bins as dry and wet waste separately at different locations in the campus. This is further collected by Waste Collecting Vehicle of Gram Panchayat. Waste paper is given away to an agency who procures all the paper waste collected in the campus. The agency provides blanks papers in return for the waste which are being used for official work in the laboratory.

For the management of Solid Waste Vermicompost pits are being created in the campus and the work for the same is in progress. Monitoring of the same is under way by Zoology Department. The compost thereby generated shall be used for the garden and plantation in the campus.

7.1.3 Waste Management

1. Solid waste Collection Bins

The Solid Waste of the campus like dried leaves are collected and allowed to perish in the garden serving as natural compost. The paper waste and other waste is collected in Dust bins as dry and wet waste separately at different locations in the campus. This is further collected by Waste Collecting Vehicle of Gram Panchayat. Waste paper is given away to an agency who procures all the paper waste collected in the campus. The agency provides blanks papers in return for the waste which are being used for official work in the laboratory.

2. Solid waste management (Vermicompost pit)

For the management of Solid Waste Vermicompost pits are being created in the campus and the work for the same is in progress. Monitoring of the same is under way by Zoology Department. The compost thereby generated shall be used for the garden and plantation in the campus.

3. E-waste management

The E-waste collected is spared for reuse of some of its parts when there is damage caused to the working E appliances. Some of the E-wastes are used by students running various projects.

4. Biomedical and Chemical Waste management

The Biomedical waste generated in Microbiology and Biotechnology Laboratory is autoclaved before disposing to prevent the disposal of pathogens in the liquid waste.

To reduce the chemical waste generated in the laboratories experiments are run at micro scale to minimize the quantity of chemical waste generated. The handling of hazardous chemicals is done in specific cabinets to prevent the effects that may be caused due to these chemicals. They are disposed of in specific tanks and before final disposal they are neutralized to minimize the effects of these hazardous wastes in the liquid waste generated.

5. Radioactive Waste

Radioactive waste is not generated in the campus.
